

Dear Clinical Teams,

It is with a little regret that as from the 1st of next month we will not be providing coloured acrylics and glitter options free of charge (we have fun doing them and agree these can provide an incentive to the patients, but there is a cost implication we can no longer absorb).

Primary colours are still available, but at a cost of an extra £3.00 per colour or glitter option. We will also be unable to give time for anything more than a random colour swirl or mist or a simple half and half colour scheme. (Again the more complicated patterns can be very time consuming).

We have never charged extra for your private patient's work, however to keep the NHS work at the same price that we have held it at for the past 7 years we now have very little option and a revised Private Patient price list has been decided.

There is no way we can tell (unless you inform us) which are private patients and which are not for most of our appliances, but private patients will benefit from better materials and extra time (just as a prosthetic denture will have better grade teeth and wax work than NHS).

We hope you understand our predicament in trying to keep your NHS costs the same while trying to cover the increased costs on materials and pay over the last 7 years.

The revised price list along with a copy of the edited terms and conditions can be found on the Prices page of our website.

Kevin